

28 July 2005

GO OPEN SOURCE, in association with the CSIR, the African Institute for Mathematical Sciences, Martin King and Cheryl Grunbock, will host an open source software-centric course from 11 July to 5 August at the AIMS premises in Cape Town. The course hopes to encourage the use of open source solutions by lecturing staff, for educational research in mathematics and science. Visit www.go-opensource.org for more information.

CareerMatrix
How not to pull your weight
CareerMatrix is a leading provider of career coaching and recruitment services. The advertisement features a scale of justice, symbolizing the importance of fair compensation and performance. The text discusses the challenges of finding the right talent and the role of CareerMatrix in providing expert advice and solutions. The ad also includes contact information for CareerMatrix, such as their website and phone number.